

SAUNTERINGS

From Where The West Begins.

By JOHN T. MEYERS.
For The Sea Coast Echo.

TODAY is Good Friday. Thoughts of Christian men and women the world over are centered on the form of our Savior, mercifully nailed to a cross in order that his beloved mankind might be saved. Most of us learned the simple, beautiful story of Jesus Christ's life as a child.

In the course of life's battles, perhaps, we have strayed from the righteous doctrines of love for mankind, justice, honesty, duty, and reverence for the Almighty that were revealed in its text.

Mankind's misguided ideas of self-importance, greed, mistrust of fellowmen, and the world-wide threats of war openly discussed at this time, give evidence that this sad state of affairs exists.

Attend the church services of your creed, Good Friday, then re-read the story of Christ's life, struggles, and sacrifices in your behalf. It will give new understandings, courage and a broader outlook on life.

TEXAS was allotted 42 summer Civilian Conservation Corps camps by national director of emergency conservation. The personnel to be distributed over the state will comprise approximately 12,900 men.

SAN ANTONIO'S holiday calendar is well stocked these bright days. Easter is just a couple days ahead. The new straw hats and amulets of dainty bonnets will be on promenade on Sunday—provided winter blasts do not slip back as has occurred the past four week-ends. Next on the program will be Fiesta de San Jacinto week which begins on Monday, April 10th, followed by a week of days and nights crowded with colorful activity.

LIKELY disastrous results were avoided here when garbage collectors discovered a 75-millimeter shell in an ash can. The shell was delivered to an ordinance officer at Fort Sam Houston. Had the shell found its way into an incinerator, explosion and loss of life would have resulted, the officer stated. The shell is believed to have been picked up as a souvenir by a Kelly Field visitor. Military warnings against this hazardous practice have been issued.

THE recent death of Lilyan Tashman, young screen actress, in New York brought to light the degraded depths to which supposedly civilized humans sometimes wallow. During funeral services unruly mobs of morbidly curious women and men mauled, yelled, and threatened theatrical notables for autographs. This disgracing exhibition brings to mind similar action at the time of Rudolph Valentino's death. Such disgusting behavior befits the lowest type of moron.

FROM Alice, Texas, on the fringe of the Rio Grande Valley, comes report of the season's first cotton picking. The farmer stated that cotton growing in his field all winter had bloomed every month. Page Mr. Ripley.

Depression, or no depression, Uncle Sam's khaki-clad army lads will butter with their daily bread. A notice in the federal budget called for 44,000 pounds of butter. There was also a bid for 7,300 pounds of cheese.

JOHN DILLINGER, bandit and killer, whose wooden gun episode enacted in Crown Point, Indiana's jailhouse gained him freedom, made a laughing stock of law officers intimidated by the ruse, had a mimic in San Antonio the other night. Only this fellow wasn't a real bad man—just an inept with a broad sense of humor—so he thought. Armed with a realistic looking toy pistol, he entered a cafe, and ordered "hands up." Terrified pronto. Arrival of a police scout customers reached for the ceiling—carried the pseudo Dillinger's gun play. Sobering up next morning in a cell, he discovered crime does not pay—not even "make believe" hold-ups.

ADDED signs of Spring: Huisache trees a profusion of golden, sweet-scented blooms. Misquitos and Hackberry trees also budding—weather prophet's sign that Jack Frost has turned heels for the year. Mexican family enjoying a bath in San Antonio river. Cactus plants showing indications of early bloom. Spanish dagger plants already in full bloom. First horned toad scoting across the street after a winter's hibernation. And the surest sign—your columnist getting day dreams of vacation time.

NEW lottery racket is making the rounds these days. In place of weather bureau temperature reports popular a short time ago, the new sucker bait is drawn from the daily figures of the United States treasury balance. Tickets are 25 cents a throw. A list of winning numbers is published weekly following sale of tickets. There is no attempt to keep this form of lottery secret. Newspapers publishing national reports are innocent victims of this racket.

THE fight to pass the Highway Loan Bill over the veto of the Governor failed just as I predicted. The vote was 75 to 61, 75 voting to override and 61 voting against. It takes a two thirds majority to override the Governor's veto.

Apparently the fight is not over because immediately afterwards, supporters of the Governor began an effort to take part of the gasoline taxes away from the road people and put them into the general treasury. This effort however will not be accomplished, since it is said that a majority of the House has already pledged themselves against diversion of these taxes.

SLAM AT HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT.

The Governor also sent in a message asking the legislature to authorize him to employ lawyers and pay them to institute suits against other officials and to make an appropriation of state money to allow him to pay for investigations of state departments and state officers. This was generally thought to be aimed at the Highway Department.

STATE FINANCES PERPLEXING SUBJECT.

The fight now raging is over the "budget." It will be remembered that until the beginning of the present administration two years ago, the Whitfield-Murphree administration was the only one in many years to carry on the business of the state on the "pay-as-you-go" basis. Putting on the sales tax two years ago the Conner administration "balanced the budget" ("balance the budget" and "pay as you go" mean the same thing.) Every effort has been made to continue this plan during this session. Both Houses passed the "Homestead Exemption" bill this session which I have already written about. This bill exempts homesteads from State ad valorem taxes. The Governor in his "reports to the stockholders" last summer was the first one to advocate the "Homestead Exemption" plan. When the bill was passed, it was apparent that it would make quite a hole in the revenues of the state because you cannot take property off the tax rolls without losing tax revenues. The legislature therefore passed at the same time a bill "refunding" a bond issue of one million dollars. This means that an old bond issue which was passed and the money borrowed some twenty years ago had come due and pay day had arrived. Instead of paying the debt in full in cash the legislature "refunded" it or in other words passed a bill to renew the notes and make them payable twenty years further on. The idea of course was that instead of taking off this old debt, they would renew the debt and take the million dollars and use it in taking care of the loss of revenue occasioned by the passage of the "Homestead Exemption" bill. When these two bills reached the Governor he signed the "Homestead Exemption" bill and vetoed the Bond Bill.

This action leaves the "budget" at least a million dollars out of balance. Bills have been introduced in both houses seeking the repeal of the "Homestead Exemption" bill in order to meet the situation.

SCHOOL FOLK SEEKING MORE MONEY.

School people all over the state have been industriously seeking additional appropriations for the free schools and the members have been desirous of meeting these demands, provided money could be obtained without adding further increases in the ad valorem taxes. So, on yesterday the Senate passed a bill which gives a million two hundred thousand dollars additional appropriations for the free schools during the next two years. The Senate also passed another "refunding" bond bill which is different from the first in that it gives the Governor the authority to refund any bond issue which may fall due provided he believes that it will be necessary to have the money for another purpose.

Whether or not the House will agree to these measures and whether or not the Governor will sign them is another question.

The Senate voted small raises in appropriations to the Board of Health, the Department of Agriculture and the Budget Commission over House measures.

On Friday the House passed the

Hancock County Survey of Physical Defective Project

Again the attention of the public is called to a recently organized project, which aims to help those who are handicapped by physical defects. This includes those who are blind or partially so, deaf, crippled in any way, etc. We regret that this survey does not include cases of chronic and acute general diseases.

The investigators in this survey, Mrs. Mae Dubuison of Lakeshore, Mrs. Annie Ladner of Waveland and Mrs. Eunice Shaw of Bay St. Louis, report that thus far they have been well received by the people of Hancock county. This spirit of co-operation is greatly appreciated. By willingly furnishing these workers with the desired information, the people are helping us to help themselves.

Mrs. Thos. Hale, whose office is in the City Hall, will gladly answer any questions relative to this project.

Marked Improvement at Mollere's Groceteria In Coleman Avenue

Fitting the constant march of improvements within the spacious and complete store of C. E. Mollere, proprietor of Mollere's Groceteria, located in Coleman avenue, Waveland, a covering of battleship linoleum has been laid over the floor. Mr. Mollere has contemplated this for some time and it now comes as not only another improvement but one for the Easter season when so many purchasers will throng the big store for the week-end and also for the big summer season practically at hand. Mr. Mollere is to be complimented on his attractive store, full and varied stock and the patronage which his enterprise attracts.

BILOXI ROTARY CLUB WINNERS IN THIRD MATCH OF SERIES

Interesting Matches Result In 11 to 5 Victory—Next Meeting to Be At Pine Hills

With ideal weather prevailing, interested and enthusiastic golf players vying to go in the third set of series of matches in the Biloxi-Pass Christian Inter Club Rotary tournament got underway promptly at nine o'clock at the Biloxi Golf Course last Sunday morning.

There were 7 foursomes participating, headed by "Bill" Barbour of the Biloxi Rotary Club and L. H. Barksdale of the Pass Rotary Club as managers. The players were well matched and the final results showed the Biloxi team winners by a score of 11 to 5 points.

A tempting and well served lunch was enjoyed at 12 o'clock in the club house, presided over by Bill Barbour, spokesman for the affair. Several members were called on for short remarks and the usual run of rare jokes. Those responding to the call of the presiding officer were: L. H. Barksdale, Albert Hitt, Frank Bowes, Pete Carpenter, C. C. McDonald and L. S. Elliott, all expressing their pleasure at being present and the good times enjoyed at these golf tournaments. A finer and more social set of sportsmen is hard to be found anywhere.

The next meeting of the series of golf matches will be held at Pine Hills Golf Course and are eagerly anticipated.

CWA Instructional Sewing Project For Hancock In 3rd Week

The C. W. A. Instructional Sewing project is running into the third week with a class in practically every section of Hancock county—12 in all. Everyone started with elementary steps in sewing, viz: seams, basting, stitches, corners, etc.

A scrap book illustrating all seams and finishing stitches and practically every step necessary in the making of garment is being made by every woman enrolled. Prize is offered for the best.

Those who desire, sew on their own material, but a number of ladies and children's dresses, as well as many pieces of children's underwear have been made for the R. F. C. by their cooperating in furnishing the material. C. W. A. seamstresses did the work and returned all garments to R. F. C. for distribution.

Before the distribution, there is to be a local exhibit and dress contest, and the two winners in each unit in a county-wide contest held in Bay St. Louis. The local merchants have given prizes to stimulate interest.

Mrs. Lott, County Director is delighted with the progress being made, and hopes to continue the project with the study of fabrics, suitability of design and cut as to types, coloring, etc.

FEDERAL LIBRARY PROJECT IN FULL FORCE A T C W A BUILDING

Local Officers and Committees Appointed—Library Hours and Features—Public Asked to Make Use of Library—Project Promises One of Benefit And Activity.

OLDER CITIZEN ENJOYS

That the federal recreational centers for Hancock county are of value and serving the older persons as well as the young is well evidenced in the case of Mr. Ephraim Cuevas, who resides at Standard, this county. Mr. Cuevas will celebrate his 66th birthday on May 19 of this year. He is a farmer by occupation and lives with his wife and one unmarried daughter. There are two other children—a married daughter and son.

"I never knew there could be so much in life as to enjoy one's spirits and quicken one's hopes than in the work sponsored in Hancock county by the federal authorities and known as recreational projects. I not only enjoy the social hours and general past times arranged for the people of our neighborhood but I am glad to be of whatever assistance possible to help along the cause. Life in the country is, to a certain extent, pretty monotonous; a drag affair. Work from sunrise to sundown and with the depressed recent years we have had little or nothing to look forward to. "Now," continued Mr. Cuevas, speaking to an Echo representative, "we have an entirely different aspect on life, even though I am somewhat advanced in years. With such wholesome and enjoyable recreation and relaxation we look upon things from a different and more favorable slant."

Mr. Cuevas is said to be the oldest citizen in Hancock county to participate in the recreational programs. He is active in the group singing, dancing, games, etc. He leads the various types of dances he so well knows from other years and that appeal most to the people of the rural communities. Easily two thirds of the people of the various communities have entered into the spirit of the project—to elevate the spirits of the people, to improve their general morale and to develop the happy instinct of a population. Let us hope this work will continue, especially since it is meeting with that success for which it was originated and projected through the CWA forces and influence.

A Story Hour for children will be conducted every Wednesday P. M. at 4:15. This will be in charge of a person especially gifted in this field. Mrs. Snedeker from New York conducted the hour for this week and entertained a group whose range from 5 to 8 years. For the following week a group from 9 to 12 years of age will be entertained.

Current Event Hour was set for Wednesday A. M. 10:30 o'clock, and was conducted this week by the local historian, Mrs. Phyllis Snedeker.

Miss O'Donn and Mrs. E. C. Carriere were instructed to arrange for a monthly forum, American Government and Civic Forum.

It was decided that local members would name a local library committee, consisting of not less than two, or more than three members from each of their respective church organizations and then request that the names of these be given to Mrs. Snedeker within the next ten days. Mrs. Rosalie Staehle is in charge of the Bay St. Louis Parish, representing the St. Margaret's Daughters on this committee. The board then voted that Mrs. Gordon Bowell be asked to act as Hospitality chairman for the Open House which will be held at the Library on Monday, April 9th, Hours 4-5 P. M. and 7:30-9 P. M.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend this meeting and bring a book.

Also urged to use the Library daily. In addition to the many interesting books to be had, you will find copies of the Sea Coast Echo, Jackson Daily News and the Times Picayune, on the reading table. Times Picayune is given by Mrs. Marshall and Mrs. Carriere.

GOOD-NESS ICE CREAM OPENS FOR SEASON ON BEACH IN BAY CITY

Ainsworth and Raymond Kidd in Charge of Local Depot—Carries Varied Supply.

That Good-Ness Ice Cream, the cream of creams, is coming back to Bay St. Louis for the season is good news. Ness Cream and kindred products, strictly home and coast products and passing the most severe tests as to quality and flavor, are well known and people of this section of the Coast will be served by the Kidd agency in Bay St. Louis.

Ainsworth and Raymond Kidd will be in direct charge of the shop, formerly Gem Restaurant, where curb service will be specialized. Both young men, residents of Bay St. Louis, products of St. Stanislaus college, are home "boys" and will receive the patronage to which they are entitled, especially since they represent so outstanding a brand of products.

A display advertisement, appearing elsewhere in this issue of The Echo, carries a list of the various products offered the public. Include Ness ice cream in the Easter dinner. Orders for afternoon and evening parties solicited.

PROCLAMATION

GOOD FRIDAY

REALIZING the solemnity of the Memorable Day of Good Friday, and that the Christian world today bows in sorrow and sympathy, commemorating the World's Greatest Tragedy, and

That it is but meet and proper that our people, too, set aside the every day activities as far as possible and practicable with their every day life and pursuit, to do honor and to glorify further the Holy Name of One who was sacrificed and suffered the expiation of sins for Mankind,

That, in order to pay tribute to the Holy Redeemer, I, as Mayor of City of Bay St. Louis, do hereby proclaim Good Friday, March 30 a DAY OF HOLY OBSERVANCE; that our acts and attitude be such as do reverence to the day.

Attest:
W. L. BOURGEOIS,
H. GRADY PERKINS, Commissioners.

G. Y. BLAIZE, Mayor.

LOW WAGES FOR WOMEN.

WE are somewhat surprised to see that women, working in the manufacture of lime, cement and plaster in the state of New York receive an average of $6.75 a week, according to the New York Post, which quotes the state department of labor. What the minimum weekly wages was is not stated but can be imagined.

Conditions in other industries, in Pennsylvania and New York, have caused Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the Pennsylvania governor, to parade with striking female workers, rebelling against working conditions, hours of labor and wages paid.

Similar conditions exist in practically every state where industry is firmly entrenched. It is almost as bad on some farms in agricultural states.

The remedy for the condition does not lie in denouncing the people or the officials of some other state but rather in doing some real work to alleviate bad working conditions where we can do some good, in our own state and community.

EASTER DAY.

EASTER DAY, feast of the Resurrection is at hand again with all attendant beauty of the lesson and inspiration thus typified.

The resurrection inspires men and women with new hope. As if a new world were born. We look forward to new things, to a new day and with Christ arisen we, too, some day will arise from mortal earth to seraphic realms.

Imbued with the spirit of the lesson of Christ we strive to lead better lives, to do the things that count for good, to lend a fellow-creature a helping hand and in all things to strive for those things that in the last analysis, even here below, count for so much—a satisfaction of self confidence and hope that nothing else may give.

It behooves one and all to visit his or her church—some church, at least—to join, even though in spirit, in the glad hosannas. To come a living part of Easter Day. The influence is uplifting and of generous compensating factor.

Easter greetings to you, dear reader.

NEW ORLEAN'S CYCLONIC VISITATION.

NEW ORLEANS was the scene of disastrous visitation. A cyclone of two minutes duration played havoc in a lower section of the city, rendering hundreds of families homeless. Killing none, but injuring and possibly maiming many for life. Relief forces were prompt and generous including the Red Cross. New Orleans people are noted for their great courage and the situation was soon taken in hand and normalcy again established in the affected area as far as possible.

We sympathize with the victims. Congratulations to the great heroism and moral stamina exhibited. New Orleans is a great city and its people as great if not more so.

NEARLY A MILLION.

EARLY in 1934 the American people honored their President in a very unique and appropriate way. A series of birthday balls in practically every city in the nation was staged, during which President Roosevelt spoke to the nation over the radio.

All proceeds from the sale of tickets, over expenses, were designated for the endowment fund of the Warm Springs, Georgia, Foundation the health resort which helped President Roosevelt recover his own health. While the amount realized was not quite as large as some expected it ran to almost $950,000.

This amount will be of tremendous benefit to the Foundation and will be the means of untold benefit to hundreds of sufferers in the future.

The average man will lie about fishing, hunting, gardening, women and income.

Funny thing, so few of the weather experts are telling us about the warm winter that was predicted last fall.

There are advertisers who do not realize the value of subscribers—they buy their advertising at the bargain counter just like women plunge for remnants.

One reason for the average man's lack of money is that he spends on the basis of his prospects and has to pay on the basis of his income.

This is not the time, we suggest, for strikes to retard recovery. At the same time it is rather difficult for the average man to understand the issues in many dispatches.

The government, so far as we have been able to observe, has done something special for every industry and business except the newspapers, which have been the main sources of getting news of its activities to the people.

ADVERTISING AND SELLING BY PERCENTAGE.

THE law of percentage is what encourages all who solicit for the sale of goods. The average peddler, or subscription solicitor, has long learned that a flock of unprofitable calls will be off-set by a number of good sales. He realizes that he "gets" a very definite per centage of the prospects upon whom he calls.

The merchant who advertises should know this truth if he expects to get the most for his money. If he places his advertising before five hundred readers, other things being equal, he will get half the response that would be his if he contacted one thousand readers. There is no magic to it, the law of per centage is pure mathematics.

However, in newspaper advertising there is another factor that makes certain newspapers more valuable than others. A newspaper may, through the years, build up prestige and win the high regard of a buying class of readers. It may not have the numbers of another newspaper, when mere subscribers are counted, but it will easily outpull its competitor in securing results.

Whenever an advertiser can secure a newspaper, possessed of both the largest circulation, that's what sensible merchants would call rare good fortune. Whether The Echo should be classed in this unusual category we must leave it to others to say. However, The Echo still covers Hancock county and immediate adjacent territory "like the dew." The old slogan still holds good.

THE RIGHT OF 'PRO BONO PUBLICO.'

THE editor of the Louisville, Ky., Courier-Journal was arrested and fined because he printed in his newspaper a letter, signed "Member of the House," and then refused to divulge the identity of the author to the Legislature.

The issue raised is not over responsibility for the letter because, naturally, the editor assumes it when he publishes it without revealing the author's name. The real point is the apparent desire of the legislature to punish the author, or at least to uncover him for whatever effect it will have.

Newspapers have always defended the right of anyone to be heard when satisfied that the grievance is legitimate. Whenever, in the editor's opinion, the right to speak should be voiced by "Pro Bono Publico" or "Irate Taxpayer," there is no reason why the name of the author should be printed.

Naturally, as all recognize, the newspaper, under such circumstances, becomes responsible for what is printed. This, too, even if he does not, as happens very often, agree with the views or temper expressed.

The Echo has made it a practice in the past, and will continue in the future, to give space for the publication of many letters to the editor. Some of them will be signed by the author's name, others will be published under a nom de plume. Many of them will not be the views of The Echo but they will express somebody's opinion about matters of public, as distinct from private, matters.

A LACK OF SENSE.

OFFICERS of the law are still trying to locate and recapture John Dillinger, gangster, who escaped from an Indiana jail after having allegedly fooled his jailers with a wooden pistol. It so happened that the sheriff was a woman, but this did not have anything particularly to do with the escape, except that it seems that she, with other law officials, failed to have the proper conception of their responsibilities.

Shortly after Dillinger's capture newspaper photographers secured a photograph. It was a rare specimen. The lady sheriff stood to the left smiling complacently and looking rather good; the gentlemen prosecuting attorney, his teeth showing in a grin, stood next to the desperado; on the right stood John Dillinger, his shirt-sleeved elbow and forearm resting on the prosecuting attorney's left shoulder. He too, had a slight smile but in his eyes one can read more determination than in the four eyes of the representatives of the law combined.

Attorney General Cummings in Washington called attention to the photo. Quite properly he uttered this rebuke: "That's the sort of thing that makes the enforcement of law difficult. If they had been Federal officials when the picture was taken, they would not be now. I would remove them in ten minutes. This shows a complete lack of sense of responsibility or of propriety and common sense. The negligence of these people may result in the death of some honest person."

$5,000,000,000 LOANED.

MORE than $5,000,000,000 have been loaned by the United Government to 847,000 persons and institutions. Seven hundred and sixty-seven thousand of these have been loans to individual farmers but the amount of money advanced to the farmers so far has been only a small part of the total.

From the standpoint of the amount of money borrowed the division is as follows: Banks, $1,896,922,000 or nearly thirty-eight per cent; states, cities, counties, etc., $941,000,000, or about nineteen per cent; farm processing and marketing, $405,000,000, or eight per cent; railroad, $397,000,000, or a little less than eight per cent; farmers, $396,000,000, or a little less than eight per cent; private construction companies, around $250,000,000, or five per cent; mortgage loan companies $220,000,000, or a little more than four per cent; home owners, $179,000,000, or three and one half per cent; pegging farm prices $135,000,000, or about two and one half per cent; building and loan agencies, $113,000,000, or a little over two per cent; and insurance companies, $87,000,000, not quite two per cent.

Most of these loans, in amounts, were made through the RFC but the loans to farmers include seed loans and the refinancing of mortgages. The government has used its credit in many ways in an effort to bring about a return to normal conditions.

MERELY THEORETICAL

By GEORGE E. SCHILLING

IT IS a great deal easier to find a new way of stating the question that is troubling so many minds today than it is to give the answer. Perhaps we can find a hint of that elusive answer if we think of our problem in terms of arithmetic mentioned a couple of weeks ago. The lesson at that time in multiplication and division was a multiplication of wealth and its division among workers and others.

Our national leaders in business, and even in politics, are evidently unable to learn this lesson because they are so fascinated by subtraction, which is exactly the operation that the rest of us want to avoid. They are trying their hardest to subtract something from somebody else, or figuring to keep from having anything subtracted from them. Subtraction is a process which decreases, so that the more they subtract the less there is left to divide, and the final remainder is not large enough even for all of these formerly eminent operators.

If you think of wealth as a fixed quantity, like a million dollars invested in real estate, bonds and stocks, then addition and subtraction are the important operations. You figure that whatever you can take away from somebody else you can add to your own pile, and vice versa.

If you think of wealth as something that can be produced and used to satisfy wants, then you can get the idea of multiplication by modern productive methods, and so creating more than most people have dreamed of. Multiplication is a little more advanced than addition and subtraction, but much more rapid. One advantage of this kind of multiplication is that there ought not to be any subtraction about it at all. Why want to take a stick of taffy away from another little boy, if you have a whole candy kitchen? If we can produce five or ten times as much as we do now, we ought not to take anything away from anybody, for there will be enough, and more than enough, of everything for everybody.

But, while we can multiply without subtracting, we cannot, in economics, multiply without dividing. We cannot produce unless we also consume. A railroad may cost five hundred million dollars, but it is not worth anything at all, unless it is used. If we multiply its use in transporting people and things, then we create wealth, incidentally adding to the capital value of the railroad. Even a Wall street broker or an Iowa farmer, knows that property is worth, not what it cost, but what it produces, yet both of them are thinking principally of capital values, and not of production values. In order to produce wealth, then, we must consume it, and that implies dividing it as widely as possible. We must find some way to distribute the candy among a great many people, or else the candy kitchen is useless.

Practically this task of division will involve a great deal of very different work, but it seems to be work that must be done, as well as talked about. The apparent method is by increasing wages and salaries so that they may command larger and larger amounts of the annual produce of the country. It was hoped that the N. R. A. would prove a practical means of accomplishing this result, by gradual steps. The first emphasis was on division, that is division of work and additional (not multiplication) of wages.

Unfortunately the present emphasis seems to be on profits. Adding to prices does not prevent subtracting from wages. Our great business geniuses appear to be unable to get beyond the idea of the simpler operations in arithmetic. They went to the head of the class in addition and subtraction, and there they remain. If we can induce these boys to go ahead, study the new operations and work out the problems in multiplication and division, we shall have our answers. If they continue as stubborn as they now are, they will fail to pass their grade and may be expelled from school altogether. The most of us would be well satisfied with a system of production controlled more in the general interest.

The socialists claim that there is no room for profits in the new economics, that profits involve subtraction from the common wealth, and subtraction is what we want to get rid of. (This does not mean that we cannot afford very high wages of management.) It is possible that we may be forced to discard the whole profit system and substitute social ownership and control of business.

The answer to all our problems then, if this column is not greatly in error, must be controlled production and distribution with cooperation between business and government under some such plan as the N. R. A. or else socialism, that is public ownership and operation of industry.

The one fact about the new arithmetic that must not be forgotten is that there can be no multiplication without division, no production without distribution and consumption. Whatever scheme we work itself out, it can succeed only as it makes all of us, not poorer than we now are, but richer and more comfortable.

WITH THE PRESS.

THE COUNTRY NEWSPAPER.

(Christian Science Monitor)

TURNING from city newspapers to small town press exchanges that come to the editor's desk is like stepping from the slums, full of vice, into an old-fashioned garden, sweet with lavender and thyme and the scent of perennial flowers. The pages of big dailies are so full of murder, thievery, immorality and selfishness that the better news is obscured by these glaring shatterings of the Decalogue. One puts the papers aside with a feeling of depression and heartache that the world is so full of terrible and unhappy things.

Then picking up the papers that record the happenings of the little towns around us, one gains renewed faith in life. Here are set forth only that which uplifts a community—the activities of the business men, the church items, the happy social gatherings of the people, the marriages, births and deaths, farmers' items, and all the thousand and one daily occurrences that make up the simple annals of the great common people, who are really the foundation of this broad country of ours.

Sometimes people speak lightly of the country newspaper, but it is one of the most potent and uplifting factors in our national existence.

ANOTHER FREE BRIDGE.

(Gulfport Herald)

ANNOUNCEMENT was made from Jackson this week that the Escatawpa River toll bridge in Jackson county would be taken over by the State Highway Department and operated free to the traveling public.

Last September the State Highway Commission paid $60,000 for the toll bridge at Merrill in George county and made it a free bridge.

But the Pascagoula River Bridge remains a toll bridge.

The Daily Herald does not expect the State Highway Commission to purchase this bridge and make it a free bridge nor does it expect Jackson county to make it a free bridge but it does ask that Jackson county reduce the toll; if not, then that the State Highway Commission buy the bridge and reduce the toll.

On the Mississippi Coast on Highway 90 there are three large bridges—Pascagoula, Biloxi-Ocean Springs and Bay St. Louis—two free bridges and one toll. If the Biloxi-Ocean Springs and Bay St. Louis bridges charged the same toll as the Pascagoula bridge we believe the traffic along the Mississippi Coast would diminish to such an extent that the Pascagoula bridge revenue would be reduced at least one-half.

The Pontchartrain bridge (started building in 1925, costing $5,500,000, has not one-fourth the traffic going over it that passes over the Pascagoula bridge, yet charges 50 cents one way or 60 cents round trip. The Pascagoula bridge (started in 1927, costing $165,000, not including roads through marshes) charges 50 cents one way or $1.00 round trip.

A reduction in the Pascagoula toll to 25 cents one way and 30 cents round trip should bring increased travel over the bridge which would continue to give Jackson county a handsome revenue.

WITH THE MOVIES AND FILM FOLKS

(For The Sea Coast Echo)

ACCORDING to reports, Jean Harlow's next vehicle for MGM will be "The Age of Larceny."

With all the present talk about war and slaughter going on these days, Universal has decided that this is the time to reissue "All Quiet on the Western Front," as a protest against war.

While the search for a suitable Lovely Mary had been going on for the past two years, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" has lain on the shelves at Paramount. However, they have decided that Charlotte Henry, who played "Alice," in "Alice in Wonderland," is suited for the role and its production is scheduled for late in April.

Fox has purchased the screen rights to John Galsworthy's "The Apple Tree," from Frank Tuttle. Some background footage was taken for the film in England but it will be produced in California where duplicate scenery will be found.

"Rhythm in the Air," formerly known as "Hot Air," was originally intended by Warner Brothers for as small-money picture. However, the popularity of its star, Dick Powell, caused them to rewrite the script, and now it is considered one of the studio's best pictures.

Diana Wynyard and Clive Brook will be featured together for the first time since their successful appearance in "Calvacade," in "The Dover Road." Not less than six British players will appear in the picture, to include the two mentioned above and Reginald Owen, Alan Mowbray, Phyllis Barry and Walter Armitage.

Paramount is ready to welcome Charles Laughton back to the fold after a lengthy absence in England. Two pictures are scheduled for him, including "The Princess of Dark-

Among those scheduled for early releases are: "The Scarlet Empress," with Marlene Dietrich; W. C. # "I AM SUZANNE!"

LASKY FILM FOR FOX AT A. & G. THEATER

Lilian Harvey & Gene Raymond Have Feature Roles.

With the claim that "I Am Suzanne" is one of the outstanding achievements in his motion picture career, Jesse L. Lasky will present this Fox Film production at the A. & G. Theater, Sunday and Monday, Lilian Harvey, the internationally famous star, who was last seen in "My Lips Betray," has the leading feminine role. It is Miss Harvey's third American film, and it is said that her role offers her a more ample opportunity to display her versatility than any of her previous endeavors.

"I Am Suzanne," is the story of a young stage star who falls in love with a youth who is the representative of a declining family of puppeteers. The young star leaves the stage to join the puppet show. The show is a success, but she discovers that the love and praise of her sweetheart is lavished upon her puppet rather than upon herself. Infuriated by his thoughtlessness of her, she destroys the puppet and returns to the stage. The producer of the show, however, as also engaged the puppet show. The star's manager pleads with the young man to profess his love for the girl who he fears will ruin his production because of her growing ambition. The young man does so, and inspires her to give a perfect performance, insuring the pair of success and happiness.

The film is said to offer something new, in that its background is found in the unique setting of a puppet show. In direct contrast to the tiny puppet show, there are three spectacular revue numbers that form the major part of the film. The three song numbers, "St. Moritz Waltz," "Just A Little Garret" and "Eski-o-lay-lo-o-mo," all taken from the revues, have already proved popular with the public.

Gene Raymond has the leading masculine role opposite Miss Harvey. The carefully selected cast boasts of such names as Leslie Banks, Georgia Caine, Geneva Mitchell, Halliwell Hobbes, Murray Kinnell and Edward Keane.

Rowland V. Lee who collaborated with Edwin Justus Mayer on the story and screen play, directed the picture. Sammy Lee directed the dance numbers to the tunes written by Frederick Hollander and Forman Brown.

STATE INCOME TAX RECEIPTS INDICATE HIGHER EARNINGS

According to Jackson Report Better Collections Should Make for Relief.

That Mississippians did much better financially last year than in 1932, was indicated at Jackson Monday as an early tabulation of income tax returns showed first reports running nearly double those of a year ago.

Income tax receipts, up to Monday, totaled $83,476 compared to $47,891 a year ago the same day. Returns were not due until March 15, and since most reports swarmed in at the last minute, tabulators of the state tax commission was far behind with the mail, and would venture no estimate of the final yield. The tax is down for budget.

Meanwhile other taxes yielded $3,400,000 this year in the legislative percent higher than a year ago, the total collection of the commission since January 1 this year running to $1,251,134 compared to $904,888 a year ago.

Sales tax collected this month amount to $127,888, compared to $103,631 a year ago, and amusement taxes this month show a yield of $20,513 compared to but $4,360 a year ago, when the bank holiday hit entertainment hard. Tobacco taxes have yielded $53,706 this month, against $35,260, a year ago. The beer tax, imposed last few days of last month has yielded so far $35,020 this month. It is budgeted to yield $100,000 a year.

The Passing Of a Good Man

AN APPRECIATION.

On January 21st, 1934, when Thomas Banks Turner fell on sleep, surrounded by loved ones and friends, in the little city of Waveland, Texas, a prominent business man of that city remarked: "Waveland mourns the passing of a man that no one ever heard a remark against."

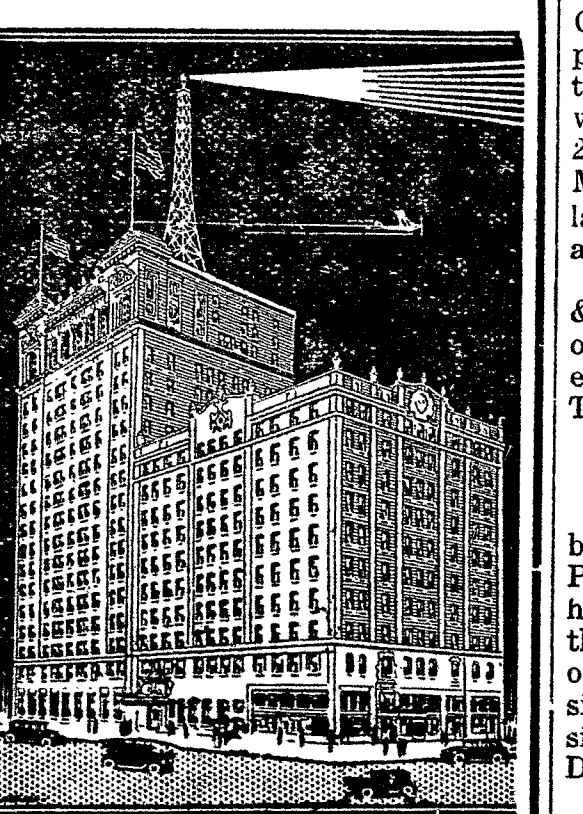

This statement very forcibly expressed the character of the man. Indeed it could be truthfully said of him, "Blessed a man indeed in whom is no guile." T. B. Turner was the very embodiment of honesty and integrity—nothing that was the least shady appealed to him, and he always had the courage of his convictions to stand and speak for what he thought to be right; and his judgment as to right and wrong was based on a Christian experience into which he came while young and practiced consistently during his earthly life.

He was well born and reared in Christian home. While Greenville, Miss., was his birth place and his boyhood days were spent in Nashville, Tenn., his young manhood and first business career were spent in Bay St. Louis, Miss., where he left in 1911 he, with his family moved to Texas and with his son R. J. entered the mercantile business, first in Jacksonville for two years, then in Waveland for 17 years, where he was honored and esteemed as a citizen, a business man and a faithful churchman.

He retired from business four years before his death. For 40 years he held official relations to his Methodist church, as steward and Sunday school superintendent, and was true to the trust committed to his hands. He was always a friend to his pastor and loyal to the church.

It was the writers privilege to be associated with him as his pastor while in Bay St. Louis, finding him a faithful and helpful official, and afterwards through association with him by family connection—his son, R. J. having married my daughter, Kibbie, I learned more of his splendid character.

Gov. Conner Asks for Investigation of Highway And Other Departments

Kyle Land Bill of which I have before written. This bill which has now passed both Houses and will go to the Governor allows people whose lands were sold to the state for taxes and who yet have time to redeem the lands, to pay the back taxes due on these lands on the installment plan. It is a good measure and I am indeed glad that it was passed.

"The Murphree Land Bill" which allows former owners and others to purchase tax forfeited state lands at a price as low as one dollar per acre and have five years in which to pay, has not yet been passed or considered by the House. This bill was on the House calendar ahead of the Kyle bill but was not brought up for consideration of Friday. I hope that it will be considered and the members of the House will be allowed to have a chance to say whether or not they want this bill passed.

School teachers will be interested to know that Senate passed on yesterday a new "Textbook" bill. I am not familiar with its terms.

NEW PENITENTIARY BILL SIGNED.

The penitentiary reorganization bill has passed both Houses and there is no doubt but that the Governor will sign it. This bill gives the Governor entire control over the penitentiary. He will immediately appoint the Superintendent and the superintendent will appoint every official, and employee in the penitentiary. Oakley farm is to be rented out and the two line plants are to be discontinued. The trustees elected by the people are to retain their places as Commissioners until their terms expire and then new Commissioners are to be appointed by the Governor. However the present trustees are to be cut down in salary from the present salary of $2500 a year to not more than $80 per month.

sliding but like "Banquo's Ghost," they will not down. The House took up the Roberts bill which make the sheriff the official liquor salesman and put in its place the "May" bill which set up a dispensary system over the state. They passed this by a large majority. It came back to the Senate and the Senate with Roberts in the lead promptly killed it by a large majority. Roberts and McIntosh tried to get the Senate to pass a bill simply calling an election in the state to see whether or not the folks wanted liquor. The Senate killed that too. It looked like all liquor legislation was at an end. Now, the House has recommitted the Roberts sheriff sale liquor bill and talks about getting it up and passing it. All of these measures carried a referendum clause and if there is any legislation of this nature adopted then there will be a real fight before the people.

WINE MAY BE MANUFACTURED.

Both Houses have passed a bill allowing the manufacture of wine in the state for shipment outside to those sections where its sale is legal. There was considerable argument over this however the dyes insisting that if it was wrong to sell it in Mississippi then it was likewise wrong to ship the product outside.

Adjournment next Saturday is likely. The Senate has set next Saturday March 31st as the date for adjournment. However when this went back to the House the Leaders protested against it and want to wait until April 7th. The resolution will probably be up again on Monday.

After adjournment I will give you a resume of the work, and the failure and accomplishments of the session.
